Ambitious and persistent—someone for complex projects and new challenges.

Since beginning his law studies, Nick Mettler has gained practical legal experience in order to quickly acquire a broad range of knowledge.

He initially assisted a specialist lawyer with a wide variety of legal and medical issues relating to liability, social security, and traffic law.

Nick Mettler continued his career in a legal department specializing in labor and health law and then in a law firm specializing in family, criminal, and contract law.

Nick Mettler then worked at Kellerhals Carrard Zurich on a major mandate to combat the misuse of Covid loans. As part of a specialized team, he primarily handled cases relating to criminal and criminal procedure law, as well as debt collection, suretyship, and contract law.

Nick Mettler is currently completing his year of legal training in preparation for the Bernese bar exam.
